Product Recall – Coles Christmas Candles

Coles is recalling a range of Christmas candles from its stores nationally.

The candles are shaped as either Christmas tree, star or angels, in either gold or white, with a glitter coating. The product was on sale from October 2010 to January 2011, and from October 2011.

An image of the candles follows:

The product is being recalled due to a risk that the glitter coating on the candle may catch alight, and remain alight for longer than permitted under safety regulations.

Customers should return the product to their nearest Coles store for a full refund.

This recall is being undertaken to maintain the highest possible standards of safety and product quality.

Coles apologises for any inconvenience caused.
